INTRODUCTION:

The ancestors of today's Andean dwellers developed a culture and belief system uniquely adapted to their world which reflected their deep connection to Pachamama, or the mother earth, and their respect for the towering, glacier-clad peaks which so strongly influenced their lives. Indian customs blend mystical traditions of the past with elements from the beliefs of later conquering peoples like the Spanish colonists, forming the heritage of native peoples in the Bolivian and Peruvian highlands today. Imbued with a magical beauty, the spirit of the Andes can still be seen in the smiling faces of the Aymara and Quechua farmers who inhabit these lands. It is witnessed in the colorful festivals and markets which continue to be held within the stone walls of the palaces and temples built by their forefathers. Join us on this inspiring, educational journey and experience the enduring cultural legacy of the Andes!

Accompanied by an expert local guide, we begin in La Paz, Bolivia (11,930'), where we walk the cobbled streets of the city's colonial section, tour colorful Indian markets and visit the cathedral and other historical monuments. The next three days are spent exploring the Altiplano. We visit the pre-Inca Tiahuanaco ruins, sleep in typical communities like Huatajata and Copacabana, meet the reed boat builders of Lake Titicaca and hike along ancient trails on the Sun Island and Charca Peninsula. Afterwards, we drive across the border and continue overland to Puno, Peru (12,555'), and then to Cusco, former capital of the Incan Empire. Here we visit the archaeological sites of Pikillacta and Rumicolca to learn about the region's Huari and Inca cultures. We meet Andean weavers in Chinchero, visit the weekly Indian market, and walk through Cusco's Incan ruins such as the Coricancha, Sacsayhuaman and Tambo Machay. Following a tour of Sacred Valley sites in Pisac and Ollantaytambo, we focus on the jewel of Incan architecture, Machu Picchu. We board a train for a scenic ride through the mountains, where we thoroughly explore the ancient complex during our 2-day stay. Upon returning to Cusco we have time to explore the city, then we fly to Lima and enjoy a guided tour of the splendid Larco Herrera Museum before leaving for home.

DAY-BY-DAY ITINERARY:

DAY 01 (SAT): USA

We leave home today, taking an overnight flight to Bolivia's Altiplano capital, La Paz.

DAY 02 (SUN): LA PAZ

An early morning arrival to La Paz allows us to enjoy the day's first golden light on the impressive summits of Illimani (21,260'), the highest mountain in the Cordillera Real range, which looms over the southeastern end of the city. Our staff will meet us at El Alto, which at 12,850' is one of the highest commercial airports in the world. After collecting our luggage and passing through customs, we drive to the centrally located Plaza Hotel, where we have an hour at leisure so we can begin acclimating to the city's breathtaking 11,930-foot elevation. Midmorning, we begin a guided walking and private vehicle tour of the city. Our first stop is the colorful Indian market where we can purchase handicrafts such as alpaca sweaters, leather goods, or good luck charms to bring us health and prosperity. We then explore the steep cobbled streets of La Paz's colonial section, including the San Francisco and Murillo squares, and the Cathedral. A visit to the Archaeological Museum gives us insight into Bolivia's ancient cultures, and we can also see the gold ornaments found at Lake Titicaca. Next, we drive to the Valley of the Moon at the lower end of the city and walk through bizarre formations of eroded sandstone. This evening our local guide will join us for a trip briefing at the hotel and a delicious welcome dinner. (L,D)

DAY 03 (MON): TIAHUANACO/PUERTO PEREZ

Following breakfast, we depart for a 65-mile drive across the highlands to the southern end of Lake Titicaca, the highest navigable lake in the world (12,505'). With the towering pyramidal peaks of Huayna Potosi (19,975') and Condoriri (18,557') as a backdrop, we enjoy expansive views of the Altiplano, or high plain, as we drive along dirt roads to the pre-Inca ceremonial center of Tiahuanaco. En route, we stop at the typical highland town of Tambillo and visit the church built in the 15th-century. We continue to Koani Pampa where the Tiahuanaco culture developed the largest potato-growing center in the Andes using a technique called Suka Kollo. This system of cultivating plants in raised beds surrounded by water channels moderates the freezing nighttime temperatures of the high elevation. Next, we join our guide for a walking tour of Tiahuanaco's main center, built from some of the most imposing megaliths found among the Pre-Columbian cultures of South America. Our visit includes: the ritual platform of the Kalasasaya Temple; the 52-foot high Acapana pyramid; the 45-ton Gate of the Sun, whose surface is adorned with carvings of celestial bodies, indicating that it may have been used as a calendar to predict solstices and equinoxes; and the Puma Punku site where several other massive stone slabs (some weighing up to 120 tons!) have been unearthed. Afterwards we drive to Puerto Perez, La Paz's original harbor, founded in the 19th-century. We spend the night at the Las Balsas Hotel located on the southeastern shores of the lake. Total driving time: 4 hours. (B,L,D)

DAY 04 (TUE): LAKE TITICACA/COPACABANA

This morning we drive to Huatajata and visit the San Pablo shop/museum to learn about the typical titora reed rafts similar to those that Thor Heyerdahl used in his famous "Ra" and "Kon Tiki" expeditions across the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans—vessels which are still built and occasionally used by the local Aymara fishermen. We board a small motorboat and navigate the Huanamarca section of Lake Titicaca to visit Kalahuta Island to learn more about this traditional Andean craft. Here we can observe Chullpas, or burial towers unique to this culture that face the rising sun. Back in Huatajata we'll have a local style lunch, then drive about 30 min to the Strait of Tiquina and cross by ferry. Continuing another 1.5 hours along a winding road overlooking the lake, we arrive at the pleasant port town of Copacabana (12,600'). This area has been a pilgrimage center since it was established by the Incas in honor of the Sun and his first children, Manco Capac and Mama Oclo. Dinner and accommodations tonight are at the Rosario del Lago Hotel. (B,L,D)

DAY 05 (WED): ISLAND OF THE SUN

We depart the city in a private vehicle for a 1.5 hour drive along the Yampupata peninsula. Along the way we enjoy the region's lovely landscapes and pass small adobe fishing settlements such as Titikachi, which is located on a sapphire blue bay with sandy white beaches and reminds some travelers of the Greek coast. We might visit with shepherds living in the tiny hamlets we pass or watch farmers working their fields of potatoes, barley, wheat, beans, and quinoa with teams of oxen or hand tools. Near the town of Sikuni, we may take a short ride in an authentic titora boat. Arriving to the point of the peninsula, near the community of Yampupata, we embark in a small, partially covered motorboat for the 20-minute journey across Lake Titicaca to the southeastern side of the sacred Island of the Sun. Upon arrival, we ascend a steep staircase from the boat dock and walk through the two-storied ruins of Pilkokaina. Afterwards we hike about 45 minutes along ancient terraces still used today by the local farmers to reach the enigmatic

Bolivia/Peru: Highlands Heritage Tour

Inca's Fountain. This seems to have originally been a Tiahuanacan structure but shows later Inca influences. After exploring this site, whose running waters confer a blessing upon those who visit, we have a picnic lunch at Yumani and board our motorboat to head back across the lake to Copacabana (about 2.5 hours). From the docks we walk back to the familiar Rosario del Lago Hotel where we later enjoy a typical dinner together. (B,L,D)

DAY 06 (THU): COPACABANA/PUNO

Leaving Copacabana, we continue our overland journey along Lake Titicaca's southern shores. The lake's name has several translations from the Indian language, many of which refer to the puma, a sacred animal in both the Tiahuanaco and Inca cultures. Thus, Titicaca is often called the Lake of the Puma. After passing through the border to Peru, we drive to the Charca Peninsula where we stop for a short, optional hike following a trail that winds along the hills above the lake and overlooks small fishing settlements. We also visit some of the typical communities en route including Juli, where we see some of the area's finest religious architecture, and Chucuito, where we stop at the unusual Inca Fertility Temple before continuing on to Puno (12,555'), Peru's lake port city. Often called a folkloric center, Puno is famous for its traditional dances of which there are more than 100 variations. We arrive in the early afternoon in time to visit one of the intriguing and spongy, floating Uros Islands, made entirely from piles of titora reeds by the Uros Indians. The inhabitants also use the reeds as a source of food, to build their homes, handicrafts, and as animal feed! Later, we check in to the Libertador Hotel located on Isla Esteves, with commanding views of the lake. Dinner is on your own tonight. Total driving time: 4 hours. (B,L)

DAY 07 (FRI): PUNO/CUSCO

We depart early this morning as we drive from Puno to Cusco (7 hours). En route, we stop to visit the mysterious, round Sillustani Burial Towers, built in the highlands by the Aymara-speaking Colla tribe overlooking Lake Umayo. The exquisite stone work on these tombs is fascinating, showing influences of both the Tiahuanaco and Inca cultures. Afterwards, we visit the nearby Jatuncolla community where we learn about the local Andean lifestyle. Continuing over La Raya Pass (14,175') and descending into warm valleys, we visit the pre-Inca archaeological site of Pikillacta. Overlooking Lake Muina, this city, along with Cusco, comprise the two major prehistoric centers in the Cusco valley. Almost everywhere one glimpses ruins of ancient cultures, from a royal Inca estate built by Huascar, the last of the Inca rulers, to Rumicolca, the Inca gate built over Huari foundations, an impressive sight from the highway. We also stop to visit Andahuaylillas church, one of the finest examples of Peruvian colonial art. Pikillacta was constructed as a provincial capital of the Huari Empire, which ruled most of highland Peru between 600-1000 A.D. Once in Cusco, (11,150'), formerly the capital of the Inca Empire, we check in to the historic Libertador Hotel. Dinner is on your own to try some of the gourmet restaurants in town that offer Novo Andino cuisine. (B,L)

DAY 08 (SAT): CUSCO

The morning is unstructured to allow for personal explorations of Cusco, with lunch on your own. This afternoon we enjoy an extensive guided tour of this fascinating city. Our visit includes impressive sites as: Coricancha, the Inca's Sun Temple whose flawless stonework is some of the finest we encounter; the main square and cathedral, many of whose stones were taken from nearby Inca palaces; and the Inca walls along Hatunrumiyoc Street, which is named for the 12-angled stone clearly visible in the remaining walls of what was Inca Roca's palace. In the surrounding hills, we'll explore the ruins of Sacsayhuaman, a spectacular hilltop complex with commanding views of the Cusco valley, and Tambo Machay, whose ceremonial baths are fed by clear, cool springs that continue to flow 500 years after they were built. We return to the Libertador Hotel for a congenial welcome dinner and pisco sour. (B,D)

DAY 09 (SUN): CHINCHERO

A drive through the highlands treats us to panoramic views of the snow-capped Urubamba range including Mount Veronica and Pitusiray—both over 18,000 feet. In Chincho (12,335'), we catch the start of the weekly market as produce vendors set up their goods. Here we can observe as Indians from neighboring communities and farms follow the age-old traditional barter system of trueque among themselves. We observe a massive Inca wall with ten trapezoidal niches, which dominates the village's main square, and visit the colonial church. After walking through the Inca ruins at Yupanqui's palace, we join a local community in their courtyard for an overview of the Andean weaving process. Wool is carded, spun, and dyed to create ponchos, belts (fajas), and shawls (mantas). During a local style lunch we can sample a variety of native delicacies including: several types of potatoes; tubers such as oca, quinoa, and fava beans; and perhaps try a taste of cuy, a savory meat roasted with a variety of herbs. Afterwards we descend into the Sacred Valley of the Incas, stopping en route to see the Inca Salt Mines. Arriving in the town of Urubamba (9,435'), we check-in to the charming and spacious Andean hacienda-style Sol y Luna Lodge & Spa. The remainder of the afternoon is at leisure. We have dinner together this evening. (B,L,D)

DAY 10 (MON): SACRED VALLEY

After breakfast, we drive along the Sacred Valley following a winding road that provides superb views out over the valley. We see the ancient agricultural terraces that run throughout the rich bottom lands and begin to understand why this was considered the breadbasket of the empire. Our first stop is the town of Pisac (9,708'), where we drive up to the impressive Inca ruins perched spectacularly on a ridge overlooking the town and surrounding countryside. Our guided walking tour (about 2 miles total) follows a wide, but exposed, stone-paved trail high above the valley. The excursion takes us through the main sections of the site including the religious center of the complex, Intihuatana, or Hitching Post of the Sun. As we walk, we observe the agricultural terraces which were built to follow the aesthetic contours of the hillside rising from the floor of the Urubamba River valley. Afterwards, we drive past burial tombs and farms, which grow barley, wheat, corn and quinoa, to the town of Ollantaytambo. We visit the main plaza and some of the side streets of this unique community which still retains the original street plan and foundations designed by the Incas. Then, we tour the impressive terraced remains of the sun temple and return to the peaceful comforts of the Sol y Luna Lodge & Spa to relax and stroll through their lovely gardens. (B,L,D)

DAY 11 (TUE): MACHU PICCHU

We head back to Ollantaytambo early this morning to catch the Vistadome train for the 1.5 hour ride to Machu Picchu town (formerly Aguas Calientes). Ascending to Machu Picchu (7,874') by bus, we join our expert guide for a private tour of this superb archaeological site. Perched atop a crest high above the meandering Urubamba River and surrounded by rugged, green Andean hillsides, Machu Picchu stands as more than just the jewel of Inca architecture. It represents the perfect union of human engineering and the natural environment, a city in harmony with its surroundings. Never reached by the Spanish, this magical place was brought to the world's attention in 1911 by the American historian, Hiram Bingham. Our explorations of The Lost City of the Incas include all of the various sectors of the ruins: the industrial area; the Temple of the Sun and the Royal Tomb; the ceremonial water fountains and baths; and the Sacred Plazas. There should be time for a 30-minute walk to the Inca Drawbridge. We stay at the charming Inkaterra Machu Picchu Hotel in town where we have dinner together this evening. (B,L,D)

DAY 12 (WED): MACHU PICCHU/CUSCO

Rising early, those that wish to may head to the ruins to catch the early morning light as the sun rises over the mountains to strike the Sacred City. Later, there are several optional group activities to choose from, in and around Machu Picchu. At 8,860' Huayna Picchu, or Young Peak, looms in the background over the citadel. More active group members may choose to climb the very steep, exposed trail that ends at the ruins on top for an amazing, bird's-eye view or take the 1.5 hour hike downhill through the forest that ends at the partially excavated Temple of the Moon. As the day is flexible, those who prefer may simply choose their favorite spot to meditate, photograph, or continue their personal explorations. No amount of contemplation in this mysterious sanctuary reveals all its secrets, where reality surpasses imagination. We meet for a buffet lunch at a restaurant by the river before catching the Vistadome train for the scenic 1.5 -hour ride back to Ollantaytambo. Tracing the course of the Urubamba River, we wind our way past Incan terraces and Quechua communities as we leave the lush cloud forests and make our way back to the highlands. Reception upon arrival and transfer by private vehicle to Cusco (11,150') and the Libertador Hotel for the night. Dinner is on your own this evening. (B,L)

DAY 13 (THU): CUSCO/LIMA/USA

The morning is at leisure to explore Cusco's colorful San Pedro market and the many side-street craft shops, museums and plazas. We are picked up at the hotel at noon for the drive to the airport in Cusco to catch the flight back to Lima. Upon arrival we join our local guide for a private tour of colonial Lima and the fascinating Larco Herrera Museum, which houses an extensive collection of pre-Columbian artifacts. Lunch and dinner are on your own to try a typical seafood meal such as ceviche at one of the several gourmet restaurants in Miraflores. Participants leaving tonight have a return transfer to the airport this evening. (B)

JUN 24 (SUN): This is the principal day of the Inti Raymi Festival, the greatest of all Inca celebrations, held each year on June 24 to worship Apu Inti Tayta, or the Sun God—the source of life in the Andes. The current event is a re-enactment of the original pageantry and is possibly one of the most spectacular Andean festivals in South America with parades, processions, dance contests and folk music culminating in the main ceremonial event. We join our local guide after breakfast and head first to the Coricancha, or Sun Temple, where the Inca (a local resident selected to play this role), starts the celebrations with an invocation. Dancers and musicians offer their praises to Inti Tayta. Then the Inca and his procession go to the main square where we witness the rite of coca in which the future of the Empire is made known through a reading of this sacred leaf. Afterwards, we continue up to the Sacsayhuaman ruins where we watch as the Inca relights the sacred fire and offers sacrifices to the sun. Overnight at Libertador Hotel. (B,L)

- Expenses incurred in preparing for this program such as, but not limited to, non-refundable airline tickets or traveler's insurance, and additional expenses resulting from flight delays, schedule changes, cancellations, or missed connections.

TRAVEL INSURANCE: We strongly recommend purchasing a plan to protect your trip investment. Travel insurance helps to cover unexpected events prior to departure causing the need to cancel or change your dates. Weather, geologic events, local strikes, a personal injury/illness to you, family member or your traveling companion could cause interruption or changes to your itinerary, missed connections, delayed arrival, lost/delayed baggage or need for medical attention on the trip or evacuation which is why coverage is important. We recommend the Worldwide Trip Protector (WTP) plan offered by Travel Insured International (TII). Kids 17 and under are free with related adult on the WTP plan. Information and an application are sent upon receipt of your deposit (sooner if requested). Policies can be purchased securely online at: www.southwindadventures.com/insurance.html. If you, your traveling companion or a family member has a pre-existing medical condition, you should purchase the WTP policy within 21 days of your deposit in order to be reimbursed for non-refundable costs if a recurrence of the condition forces you to cancel your trip (some restrictions apply). Please call our office or visit our website for more information.

EARLY ARRIVAL TO LA PAZ: Guests with an extra day of vacation time are strongly encouraged to arrive a day early to La Paz. Not only does this provide a head start in acclimating to the high elevation, but it also allows more time to explore this bustling, historic city and enjoy some of the great shopping that is available. The cost for this extra day including transfer and accommodations at the Plaza Hotel (or similar) would be:

$285 (1 participant)      $ 205 p.p.d. (2-3)      $ 175 p.p.d. (4-6)      Single Supplement $110

WEATHER: Much of this trip takes place in mountainous regions where the weather changes suddenly. The best policy for enjoying this capricious weather is to be prepared for all possibilities ranging from intense sunshine to rain, cold, wind and/or snow. Andean/Altiplano nights are cold (averaging about 34-40°F) while the days are pleasantly warm (averaging 60-70° F in the sunshine). On overcast days daytime highs may only be in the mid-50's and you'll notice a distinct difference in temperature (possibly as much as 15°F) between the sunny side of the street and the shady side, so a sweater or jacket should always be carried. Typically the weather during the Andean dry season, which lasts from May to November, is clear, dry, and cool. The months of June, July and August can be expected to be the coldest, with nighttime temperatures possibly falling to as low as 28°F. During the transitional months of May and October/November we may experience more variable weather patterns with a general buildup of afternoon clouds and rain (or hail) showers. Rain all day is uncommon but is possible, even during the dry season.
