INCA VISIONS - THE ART OF SEEING
A Photographic Tour of Cusco & Machu Picchu

January 13, 2003, Littleton, CO. Join Southwind Adventures on this exciting journey to capture the magic of Andean culture and landscape on film. Walk beneath brightly painted balconies overlooking Cusco's cobbled streets and narrow passageways. Relax next to a sparkling fountain in quiet, flower-filled plazas. Enjoy two full days at Machu Picchu, catching the early morning light as the sun crests the nearby mountains. Experience tradition and history during the ultimate Andean festivity June 24 when Cusco comes alive with parades, dancing and music in celebration of Inti Raymi, the Sun Festival and principle pageant of the Incas.

Scheduled June 17-26, 2003, this 10 day / 9 night tour was designed for experienced & novice photographers alike, and features early morning and late evening photo sessions to take advantage of the best lighting conditions as well as cultural and walking tours to Inca sites in Cusco, the Inca's Sacred Valley and Machu Picchu itself. Conducted by renowned photographer and workshop leader, Karen Gordon Schulman, the tour covers the technical and creative aspects of photography with the Andean mountains as a backdrop.

Southwind Adventures provides first-class accommodations in historical charming 4-5 star hotels. International air from Houston and all flights within Peru are included. Land cost for this unique learning adventure begins at $4,025 per person (for 11 to 15 participants).
